Athena, in Greek mythology, is one of the twelve Olympian deities and the daughter of Zeus, the king of the gods. She is often referred to as the goddess of wisdom, courage, warfare, strategy, and crafts. Athena is typically depicted wearing armor and a helmet, and she is often shown carrying a shield and a spear. She is known for her strategic and intellectual abilities, and she represents the more rational and disciplined aspects of human nature. Athena was considered the protector of heroes and played a significant role in the epic tales of ancient Greece. Athena is often associated with the city of Athens, which was named in her honor. The city considered her its patron goddess and built the Parthenon, a magnificent temple, as a tribute to her. The Parthenon became one of the most iconic examples of ancient Greek architecture. Athena's birth is also noteworthy in Greek mythology. According to one myth, she sprang fully grown and armored from the head of her father, Zeus, after he swallowed her mother, Metis, in fear of a prophecy that their child would be more powerful than him. In addition to her role in warfare and wisdom, Athena was also considered the goddess of crafts and the arts, especially weaving. She was often associated with the concept of a civilized society and the pursuit of knowledge. Athena was a revered figure in the pantheon of Greek gods and goddesses, and her influence extended beyond Greece, as she became the inspiration for various aspects of Western culture and philosophy.

IMP C AVRELIANVS AVG / H, radiate and cuirassed bust of Aurelian to right / VABALATHVS V C R IM D R, [laureate, draped bust of Vabalathus right]; The Crucifixion of Vabalathus (?).

Unique. Nearly Very Fine / RIC 381 var. (Aurelianus).

€ 2.000

The Crucifixion of Vabalathus refers to an event that blends history with myth, centered around the enigmatic figure of Vabalathus, a ruler during the decline of the Palmyrene Empire in the 3rd century AD. Vabalathus was co-emperor with his mother, Zenobia, who led a rebellion against the Roman Empire. His reign, however, was short-lived, and after the fall of Palmyra to the Roman Emperor Aurelian in 273 AD, the fate of Vabalathus became a subject of speculation and intrigue. Some historical accounts suggest that Vabalathus was executed or humiliated by Aurelian as part of the empire's effort to suppress Palmyrene resistance. Though there is no solid evidence to confirm the exact circumstances, some later Roman sources, influenced by the symbolic importance of crucifixion as a punishment for traitors, may have depicted Vabalathus's death in a dramatic light. The idea of his crucifixion, whether factual or metaphorical, reflects the brutality and political maneuvering of the period.

Right of revocation

In the case of an effective revocation, the services received at both ends shall be returned and, if applicable, drawn-out use (eg interest) shall be issued. If you are unable to return or return the received performance as well as usages (for example, advantages of use), or only in a deteriorated condition, you must reimburse us. For the deterioration of the goods and for related uses, you have to reimburse us only as far as the deterioration is due to a handling of the product, which goes beyond testing the properties and the functionality. „Testing the properties and the functionality“ means testing and trying out the respective goods, as is possible and customary in a retail store. Parcel-deliverable goods are only to be returned to us insured at our risk and only after consultation with us. You have to bear the regular costs of the return if the delivered goods correspond to the ordered goods and the price of the returned items does not exceed an amount of € 40,00 or in case of a higher price of the product if you have not yet received the consideration at the time of the revocation or if you made a contractually agreed partial payment. Otherwise, the return is free for you. Items that cannot be delivered by parcel will be collected from you. Obligations to reimburse payments must be met within 14 days. The period begins for you with the sending of your declaration of revocation or the product, for us upon receiving either.

End of revocation instruction

10. Final provisions

The laws of the Federal Republic of Germany shall apply with the exclusion of UN law pertaining to international sales of goods (CISG).

Insofar as the customer is a merchant, solely the district court Munich I (Germany) is responsible for all claims resulting from and in connection with the agreement entered into with the customer.

If single clauses of the contract with the purchaser, including these terms and conditions, prove invalid, in full or in part, or become so in the future, this shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions. The fully or partially invalid provision shall be replaced by a provision of which the commercial effect most closely approaches that of the invalid stipulation. In case of existing loopholes, the Parties will add a provision that ensures that the Parties' will is reflected correctly according to the overall contract terms.
