Cartonato ed. con sovraccoperta, pp. 696, ill. in b/n. The current revision of this popular work marks a radical departure from the envisaged aims of the previous editions. In this second volume the catalogue entries have been greatly expanded to provide more comprehensive coverage of the vast and complex imperial series of the second and early third centuries AD. Greater emphasis is now placed on the precise chronology and place of mintage of each type and special attention is paid to the important series of billon and bronze coins struck at the Egyptian capital of Alexandria. The valuations have been exhaustively researched from recent auction records and fixed price catalogues and many professional numismatists have contributed their valuable opinions on specific series. | 882 |  | Sear D.R., Roman Coins and Their Values Volume III – The Accession of Maximinus I to the Death of Carinus AD 235-285. Spink, London 2005. Cartonato ed. con sovraccoperta, pp. 536, ill. in b/n. This third volume continues the comprehensive revision of this era, and covers in detail the next fifty years; a very different period during which the Empire came perilously close to total disintegration under the pressure of foreign invasions and seemingly interminable civil war. The economy also collapsed and with it the Imperial coinage, a desperate situation which was only partially alleviated by the currency reform of Aurelian undertaken late in his reign. The complexities of the mint attributes in this chaotic period - lacking as they do in almost all instances the name or initial of the responsible mint - have been dealt with in light of recent scholarship. Also included are detailed listings of the Antoninianus coinage not covered in the 'Roman Silver Coins' series. Contains clear black and white photographs and values for VF and EF coins, in both UK sterling and US dollars. NEW Starting price: 45 GBP |

Sear D., Roman Coins and Their Values V. The Christian Empire: The Later Constantinian Dynasty and the Houses of Valentinian and Theodosius and Their Successors, Constantine II to Zeno, AD 337-491. Spink, London 2014. Cartonato ed. con sovraccoperta, pp. 576, ill. in b/n. The current revision of this popular work marks a radical departure from the envisioned aims of the original edition. This fifth and final volume of the 'Millennium edition' contains a comprehensive listing of the Roman coinage of the period AD 337-491 together with background information on the history of each reign and the principal characteristics of its coinage. The catalogue is organized primarily by ruler with the issues then subdivided by denomination and by reverse legend and type. This arrangement combines the alphabetical ease of reference of Cohen's work with the scholarship of RIC and other modern studies, which are normally based on classification by mint. As the eastern and western halves of the Empire gradually drifted apart politically and militarily in the fifth century, the imperial coinage becomes increasingly complex. There is a tendency for the standard works of reference to be very selective in their coverage of the series as a whole and in this volume an attempt has been made to present the material as clearly and concisely as possible, in order to facilitate ease of use by the collector. The century and a half covered by this volume, from the death of Constantine the Great to the death of the eastern emperor Zeno, witnessed the initial stages of the Christian Roman Empire in the eastern Mediterranean area and the final death throes of paganism. It also saw the total collapse of Roman authority in the Empire's western provinces and its replacement by a patchwork of barbarian kingdoms. The imperial coinage similarly underwent many fundamental changes during this period and these are chronicled in detail in the text. For the succeeding coinage of the Eastern Empire, commencing with Anastasius I (AD 491-518), the reader is referred to the companion publication Byzantine Coins and Their Values (second revised edition, 1987).

Hardbound, 374pp. This listing of 886 ancient coin auction catalogues aims to include every important sale of ancient coins, which took place between 1 January 1880 and 31 December 1980, a period of 101 years. The main listing is preceded by a summary list of 886 sales, in which basic information is given on a single line, and there is an extensive index of about 950 vendor names. Photographs and short biographies are included for many auctioneers and vendors. Tables are given for the "most important" sales of Celtic, ancient Greek, aes grave, struck Roman Republican, Roman Imperial, Roman Provincial and Byzantine coins, and coins of the barbarian migrations and of ancient Spain, based on counts of the number of plates. | 906 |  | Vecchi I., Italian Cast Coinage. London Ancient Coins, 2013. Hardcover with jacket, 72pp., 87 b/w plates. A descriptive catalogue of the cast coinage of Rome and Italy. A new edition of Italian Cast Coinage (ICC) compiled by Italo Vecchi which summarises the research into Italy's cast bronze coinage since 1885. It lists 327 types from the aes rude and currency bars of early 1st millennium Italy to the final issues during the Second Punic War, many of which are previously unpublished. The book also includes an account of the cast coinages of Rome, Etruria, Umbria, North-East and Central Italy, Lucania and Apulia. Arranged overall by geographical area, themints within each area are then listed alphabetically; included are details of the historical or geographical background, and an examination of the weight standards and chronology as well as threemaps of the area. At the end of the book there are 87 plates illustrating almost all the types in the catalogue. The book is fully indexed for ease of reference. Hard bound in quarto format. The new standard reference for the cast coinage of Italy. NEW Starting price: 30 GBP |
